

Yes, it happened again. While there are people who have been able to access the ROH iPPV, it appears most haven't one hour into the planned show time. To say this was a problem they could not afford is the understatement of the year.