WWE Main Event debuts tonight on Ion. Michael Cole and The Miz will be doing the commentary:

Non-title: C.M.

Punk vs. Sheamus

Tag team tournament: Tyson Kidd & Justin Gabriel vs. Zack Ryder & Santino Marella

Both WWE and UFC set record low ratings this past week for their flagship television shows. In the new issue of the Wrestling Observer Newsletter, we look at what led to the low Raw numbers as well as what was the star segment of the show, how when people usually turn off Raw, they skyrocketed and what segments lost audience. We also look at the plight of Ultimate Fighter, as well as history on Raw battling football as the season goes on.

The issue will be up later today on the web site. A new back issue from 1995 is currently on the site.

We also have a look at Brock Lesnar's financial value to WWE so far, and if he's worth his massive pay. We look at how Extreme Rules and SummerSlam did, including some very strange results that are hard to explain. We also look at why Lesnar is likely to be offered a new contract by WWE when this one expires.

We also look at the former WWE star and Hall of Famer who had been in secret negotiations and why they fell through at present.

We also have a look at the latest ESPN poll on the popularity of WWE, UFC and Boxing across every age group. The poll is interesting because the general public perception of who is actually most interested in all three genres, and even television ratings, tell a very different story. We also look at how boxing and wrestling's popularity have changed over the past decade and why one of the three has the best chance of increasing for reasons few have really picked up on.

The poll shows a lot about where WWE may be making mistakes with their approach. It also has Lorenzo Fertitta talking about how his sport has decreased in popularity in recent years and his reaction to it.

We also look at New Japan opening up in the iPPV business on an international basis this week. We look at how the Japanese marketplace makes iPPV more viable than the U.S. marketplace. We also look at attempts over the years to market Japanese pro wrestling in the U.S. We also look at the first card, with notes on all the participants and every match.

We also have a full rundown of the UFC show in Nottingham, England, with background on the show, all the financial numbers, injury notes, judging and match-by-match coverage.

We also have a story on the departure of Kelly from WWE, talking about the background of how it all went down, how she got started in pro wrestling to begin with, why so many people have been leaving WWE, and what is next for her.

We also have a major feature looking at the 2013 WrestleMania, including directions for all the major names. We look at why one match up where the angle was shot a long ways back is unlikely to happen. We look at different potential usages of big names, as well as what people internally have said about Undertaker.

We also update Hell in a Cell, update Jerry Lawler and John Cena. We also look at a former star looking at returning, the tag team tournament, what department in WWE is undergoing major changes, notes on house shows, an update on Edge and his neck surgery, Randy Orton's schedule for the next few weeks, WWE stars talk about their backgrounds, notes on another tryout camp, C.M. Punk's schedule this past week, WWE's relationship with Full Sail University in Florida, Michael Cole's new role, update on Steve Austin, as well as business notes from WWE over the past week and details of all the weekend house shows.

The Wrestling Observer ranges weekly from 35,000 to 50,000 words covering pro wrestling and MMA internationally. Each issue has coverage and analysis of all the major news, plus every issue breaks major news stories before the Internet sites and has the most complete look at the pro wrestling and MMA business anywhere, plus history pieces available nowhere else.

The Observer is now in its 29th year of being the leading insider pro wrestling publication in the world. The biggest and most influential names in the pro wrestling and MMA industry, from bookers to promoters to Hall of Fame wrestlers and fighters to the biggest names on camera and behind the scenes, along with thousands of readers in all 50 states and more than 30 countries subscribe. Many have subscribed for 20 years or longer consecutively. They get the most detailed and inside coverage of what is going on all over the world. Everywhere from Wall Street to the major offices to television networks in the U.S. and Japan turn to the Observer for what is going on in the business.

You can also subscribe via check, cash or money order, as well as credit card by mail, by sending to Wrestling Observer Newsletter, P.O Box 1228, Campbell, CA 95009-1228. We also have a story on Ted Boy Marino, a huge national star in the heyday of pro wrestling in Brazil. Marino was a pro wrestler who had a level of mainstream appeal that only a handful of pro wrestlers have had within their country over the past 50 years.

We also have a look at Bobby Jagers, a star in the 70s and 80s in a number of territories, who passed away this past week. He look at his style, his career, and his heyday in different promotions, as well as what he was best known for in pro wrestling.

We also have a look at the ratings of all the major shows and complete details on how every segment of Raw and Impact this past week did. We look at what segments gained and lost viewers

We also have results from all the major league arena events over the past week as well as a look at all the major television shows. Also in this week's issue: --NWA historic middleweight title changes hands

We now have available personally autographed copies of Tributes II, our latest book, as well as a DVD that comes with it talking more about the subjects in the book. The book covers the life stories of Lou Thesz, Wahoo McDaniel, Elizabeth, Fred Blassie, Road Warrior Hawk, Andre the Giant, Curt Hennig, Johnny Valentine, Davey Boy Smith, Terry Gordy, Owen Hart, Stu Hart, Gorilla Monsoon, The Sheik and Tim Woods.

To get all of those biographies as back issues of the Observer would be a $60 value today. This is a collection of some of the best Observer articles of the past several years in a hardcover, full-color format that is 239 pages. There is also a foreword by Bret Hart. The book price is $12.95 plus $3.50 for shipping costs in the U.S., $10 for shipping costs to Canada and $12 for shipping costs outside North America. You can order the book the same way you order the newsletter.

Wednesday's news update --We'll also be updating the latest news including ratings and notes from the new issue of the Observer tonight on Wrestling Observer radio and you can always send questions to the show to mailbag@wrestlingobserver.com

--The death of 70s and 80s star Bobby Jagers was due to the effects of Agent Orange that he first picked up in the early 70s while serving in Vietnam. Jagers passed away in Baton Rouge where he was on site working for FEMA.

--Ion is heavily advertising the debut of WWE Main Event tonight on ESPN in the New York market. The ads are built around John Cena, who is not on tonight's show.

--Once again, tons of stuff from Raw was edited off the Hulu plus version. Among the things not on the version were the Big Show/Sheamus debate, Ryback vs. Tensai, Eve Torres vs. Beth Phoenix, Santino Marella vs. Heath Slater, Antonio Cesaro vs. Brodus Clay and parts of the Rey Mysterio & Sin Cara vs. Primo & Epico match.

--Weigh-ins for Dave Bautista's MMA debut will be on Friday at the Marriott Downtown Hotel in Providence, RI at 1:30 p.m.

--For the past week, ESPN was No. 1 in prime time on cable with an average of 3.03 million viewers to 2.33 million for USA. Syfy was No. 9 at 1.27 million. FX was No. 15 with 1.10 million. Spike didn't crack the top 25. Even though last week's Raw did its lowest audience in years, the three hours were still No. 6, No. 9 and No. 10 for the week in the ratings. The second and first hour were No. 7 and No. 9 in 18-49.

--For what this is worth, John Layfield on twitter has said he has not been told he is announcing on Raw on Monday. On this past week's show, it was mentioned that JBL would return. That's not as strange as you think. The announcers are often the last to be called in regard to assignments, especially now when the regular Raw host is gone.

--Anthony Johnson faces D.J. Linderman and Miguel Torres faces Marlon Moraes is two of the main fights on the 11/3 World Series of Fighting show from Planet Hollywood in Las Vegas.

The show will air live on NBC Sports, head-to-head with the next Strikeforce event on Showtime. --UFC has started advertising in the Vancouver market for the 12/8 show in Seattle headlined by Benson Henderson vs. Nate Diaz for the lightweight title.

The police report said Melo began assaulting wife Vivian Heiderich at 9 p.m. on 9/28 when he came home and saw that his wife wasn't there. When she got home, they fought over an e-mail message in his account and money issues. Melo allegedly punched his wife and tried to choke her, threatened to kill her, threw picture frames at her, knocked her down, kicked her in the ribs and punched her in the stomach. He allegedly threatened to hit her over the head with an iron and told her he wanted to shoot her in the back when she walked away. She was locked in the bedroom and he continued to attack her until the next day. She finally escaped and went to the hospital. Melo told police the injuries came when his wife fell off a ladder she put on a night stand. Melo was charged with false imprisonment, domestic battery with strangulation and aggravated assault.
