WWE Main Event at 8 p.m. tonight on Ion Randy Orton

vs. Big Show

Kofi Kingston vs. Michael McGillicutty

A look at the Raw ratings and the WWE shakeups after the 15 year low on October 1 is the lead story in the new issue of the Wrestling Observer Newsletter. It's an issue jammed with news, including the most detailed look at the Hulk Hogan sex tape scandal with a lot of new information, Vince McMahon's response to the ratings, the C.M. Punk incident hitting the fan in Sacramento, A look at TNA's Bound for Glory show, Steve Austin vs.C.M. Punk, the New Japan PPV show, the ROH booking change and WrestleMania 2013.

Both the issue and a back issue from 1995 will be up on the site today.

The lead story looks at changes made regarding bringing Vince McMahon back, what happened with Brian Gewirtz, how his role had changed, how the writing team is structured, who are the lead writers, the McMahon vs. C.M. Punk brawl, as well as the current A and B plan for Hell in a Cell.

We also have a detailed look at Hogan and the sex tape.

We have notes on the incident with C.M. Punk and the fan, as well as local coverage of the incident and reaction from both WWE and Punk.

We've got a rundown on Bound for Glory, looking at the programs going in and the fan reaction to the major angles.

We also look at one of the best PPV shows in recent years, the New Japan King of Pro Wrestling show featuring the Hiroshi Tanahashi vs. Minoru Suzuki match. We look at business numbers on the show, a very positive stat as well as another stat which isn't nearly so positive. We've got match-by-match coverage as well as star ratings.

We also have a look at the ROH booking change and update the situation with that company as it builds for Final Battle in December. We look at the inherent problems with the promotion, the new role of Jim Cornette and the reaction to the Kevin Steen vs. Jay Lethal finish.

We also look at UFC's show this past week, why two matches didn't happen, the injury that led to the main event ending fast, business notes, ratings and more.

We also look at the C.M. Punk vs. Steve Austin rivalry, the taped seeming beginning of an angle, the Linda McMahon campaign, what people in Connecticut really think of pro wrestling, WWE end of the year television schedule and why they have two shows that will almost surely do record low numbers before the year is out. We also look at Sara Del Rey in WWE, just how valuable C.M. Punk has been to WWE of late, more WWE firings and departures that have not gotten out, Chris Jericho talks his future, the latest on Ric Flair and WWE, update on WWE injuries, as well as business notes from the past week and a look at all the weekend WWE house shows.

The Wrestling Observer ranges weekly from 35,000 to 50,000 words covering pro wrestling and MMA internationally. You can order the book the same way you order the newsletter.

Wednesday's news update

--We have a new interview with Jonathan Snowden talking the subject of shooters in pro wrestling and the link of pro wrestling to MMA on a radio show today. Bryan and I will be back talking the latest news as well as this week's Observer, what did and didn't work in the ratings on Raw, Smackdown and more. You can always send in questions for the show at mailbag@wrestlingobserver.com

--The death of Alex Karras, a NFL star in the 60s, has gotten a lot of attention today. As many people know, Karras did some pro wrestling in the late 50s and early 60s during NFL off-seasons. He had a match with Dick the Bruiser that got national media attention because Bruiser went to a night club that Karras owned a few days before the match, and it turned into a wild street fight. Bruiser ended up being arrested. Karras figured when Bruiser showed up that he was just there making a scene to get word around town of their already scheduled match, but it got way out of control..

--Last night on UFC Tonight, it was reported that a first examination of Jon Jones' elbow was that it was only a strain with no ligament damage. But his camp is having him get a follow up examination in Los Angeles.

--Brett Rogers fought most of his fight against Alexander Volkov on Friday night's Bellator show with a broken arm. He suffered the broken arm two minutes into the fight, but didn't figure our the forearm was broken until the third round. Rogers lost the fight via decision.

--The fan that C.M. Punk hit has decided against pressing any charges.

--Regarding three hour Raws, this ratings this past week tell you why USA would not want Raw to move back to two hours, even if long-term that is the best thing for everyone. USA's claim to fame is being No. 1 in cable, but this past week, USA was only No. 5 with an average of 2.19 million viewers in prime time, behind ESPN (3.51 million), Fox News (3.06 million), TBS (2.72 million) and Disney (2.22 million. X was No. 8 at 1.51 million. Syfy was No. 13 at 1.17 million. Spike was not in the top 25. For the first time I can ever recall, last week's Raw had none of the three hours in the top 25 on cable. No. 25 was a Cardinals vs. Braves baseball game at 3.99 million. The Presidential debate took up a lot of spots, as well as some football and baseball. Sons of Anarchy did 4.60 million viewers which was only No. 15, and that would be top five most weeks. Raw didn't rank top ten in any key demo for the week.

--For Impact tomorrow night, the top three matches are Austin Aries vs. James Storm, Bobby Roode vs. Jeff Hardy and Miss Tessmacher vs. Gail Kim. The Aries and Tessmacher matches are non-title.

--Javier Mendez told Mauro Ranallo on the MMA Show that he'd like to see Daniel Cormier face Fabricio Werdum or Shane Carwin. Carwin wouldn't be available for 11/3 since he's got a December fight with Roy Nelson. Werdum right now doesn't have a scheduled fight, but we're now less than four weeks away from the date so if there is going to be a fight, they'd better get an opponent quick.

--Dana White is the keynote speaker on Monday at the CTAM Summit at 7:30 a.m. in Orlando at the Disney World Dolphin resort.

--For the ROH iPPV on Saturday night from Mississauga, ONT, at 7 p.m. Eastern time they will stream a free 10-15 minute pre-show. This is being done to make sure people know how the stream is working and if for some reason it doesn't work well, you can cancel your PPV order immediately.

--Steve Austin cut a promo regarding C.M. Punk's promo on Raw on Monday that is on YouTube today.

--John Layfield & Josh Matthews were the announcers on Smackdown since Michael Cole is now doing Main Event. Layfield did a Facebook post earlier today where he said he was having a blast being back, but doesn't even know if he will be at the TV's this coming week, but said he would like to work Smackdown next Tuesday since Jerry Lawler will be there.

--Yves Edwards, who didn't get to fight on Friday night due to Jeremy Stephens being in jail, was given a fight on the 12/8 UFC show in Seattle against Mike Cholish. It's likely to be on the Fuel prelims of the show that airs on FOX.

--Yesterday was the 30th anniversary of Jackie Fargo introducing Stan Lane & Steve Keirn as The Fabulous Ones. That's huge in Memphis, since they ended up being one of the best drawing tag teams in that area's history, but also big worldwide because they were the forerunners of the babyface Rock & Roll tag teams that proliferated for the next 20 or so years. A trivia note is that Lane & Keirn were actually meant to be heels, with the idea they'd have a short run as faces, turn on Fargo and go with Jim Cornette to feud with Fargo.

--Tickets go on sale today for UFC Fight Club members for the 12/15 show in Las Vegas at the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino. That's the finals of the current season of The Ultimate Fighter reality show plus Roy Nelson vs. Shane Carwin as the main event. Tickets are available to newsletter subscribers tomorrow at 10 a.m. and to the public on Friday at 10 a.m.

--India's Super Fight League, owned by Raj Kundra, debuted its new Friday Night Fights series. These are weekly fights done like old time pro wrestling, in a television studio in Mumbai that holds maybe 150 and a VIP audience for airing in India. The shows will air at 11:30 a.m. on the East Coast and 8:30 a.m. on the West Coast live and free at

<http://www.youtube.com/sfl>

It's a live seven fight TV show with Kultar Singh Gill vs. Amr Wahman and Sanja Sucevic vs. Irne Cabello on the first show. Gill, from Canada, is being pushed as India's most decorated MMA fighter. Wahman is from Egypt. They will be having fights every Friday night airing on the Internet.

--El Generico vs. Sami Callihan has been signed for the 11/3 Dragon Gate USA show in Voorhees, NJ in a 2/3 fall match. Also on that show is Akira Tozawa vs. Samuray del Sol.
