Something of a quiet weekend with the Raw brand off tour and no major MMA shows.

We're looking for reports from tonight's TNA house show in Atlanta which features A.J. Styles, Mr. Anderson, Kurt Angle, Mickie James, Zema Ion, James Storm, Christopher Daniels and Miss Tessmacher at dave@wrestlingobserver.com and bryan@wrestlingobserver.com.

We're also looking for reports from last night's show in Dalton, GA. The only news we got from the show is that Angle had to be helped to the back and the main event with Angle vs. Anderson ended abruptly. Angle has been working on hamstringing injury for the past week, perhaps suffered in his TV match with Jeff Hardy, because he was very limited in what he could do at the house shows last week.

There are no Raw house shows over the weekend because the crew had the tough travel week last week, going straight from Raw to Australia, then straight back without the usual mid-week break. The Raw crew goes back to work on Monday night.

We're also looking for reports on these weekend events:

Smackdown opens its tour on Saturday night in Hamilton, ONT. Sheamus, Alberto Del Rio and Randy Orton are the big three stars for the weekend tour. Orton had last week been pulled from these shows. TNA runs Saturday night in Gainesville, GA at the Georgia Mountain Center promoted as a homecoming for A.J. Styles, who is from Gainesville. ROH is in Charlotte at the Metrolina Trade Cente (Mark & Jay Briscoe & Rhett Titus vs. Kevin Steen & Jimmy Jacobs & Steve Corino, Charlie Haas & Shelton Benjamin vs. Michael Elgin & Roderick Strong, Adam Cole vs. Kyle O'Reilly, Caprice Coelman & Cedric Alexander vs. Lance & Harlem Bravado, Jay Lethal & Adam Page, Mike Mondo vs. QT Marshall).

Saturday is also the Evolve iPPV show at 5 p.m. Eastern:

Lineup is:

- El Generico vs. Samuray del Sol
- Ricochet vs. AR Fox
- Rich Swann & Super Smash Brothers vs. Chuck Taylor & Drew Gulak & Orange Cassidy
- Sami Callihan vs. Masadsa
- Johnny Gargano vs. Jon Davis
- Christina Von Eerie vs Marti Belle

The big show of the weekend is TNA No Surrender from Orlando:

- Austin Aries vs. The Armbreaker (Drew Hankinson/Luke Gallows)
- Jeff Hardy vs. Samoa Joe in Bound For Glory semifinals
- James Storm vs. Bully Ray in Bound for Glory semifinals

Winners of the semifinals meet for a title shot at Bound for Glory:

- Christopher Daniels & Kazarian vs. A.J. Styles & Kurt Angle for tag titles
- Rob Van Dam vs. Magnus
- Zema Ion vs. Sonjay Dutt for X title
- Miss Tessmacher vs. Tara for Knockouts title

Raw will be Monday night in Montreal. The big hook is that Bret Hart returns to Montreal's Belle Centre for the first time as a performer in nearly 15 years, since the legendary 1997 screw-job match with Shawn Michaels. In addition, it is being locally advertised as Pat Patterson Appreciation Night, although it is possible if not most likely those festivities will not be on television.

Smackdown will be taped in Ottawa on Tuesday.

THIS WEEK'S OBSERVER: THE 2012 HALL OF FAME BALLOT IS HERE

We've got a double issue week of the Observer, with two major features. We're looking at the 2012 Hall of Fame ballot, including a history of the voting. We look year-by-year at who has come close, and how trends in the business have changed. We look at the voting, how it's done, who does it, and who appear to be the strongest candidates. We also look at the new candidates on the ballot this year. We also have some research regarding Mexico, looking at who has won the Wrestler of the Year award in Mexico annually since the advent of Lucha Libre. We examine a lot of the close candidacies, the effect of death of voters and who is on the ballot from each region.

Our other lead story is a look at New Japan Pro Wrestling, which is probably right now the most successful non-U.S. pro wrestling group in the world, and arguably the No. 2 company overall. We look back at the start of the promotion in 1972 and the politics that were going on at the time. We look at how Japan changed in 1972 with All Japan and New Japan, what New Japan was forced to do to survive and the unique concepts they specialized in. We look at how New Japan got into the NWA, its ties with the 70s WWWF as well as why they were at times, and not at others, able to get the WWWF champion to defend. We look at the early 80s peak, business problems, the Tokyo Dome sellout era and Antonio Inoki's mentality that built the company, and later nearly killed it. We look at the downfall in the last decade, and the turnaround. We look at how the Japanese industry is so much different than the U.S. based on technology, as well as the company's talent mix and why it leads to entertaining major events.

We also look at where things stand right now, as well as look at the June PPV show, treating it like it's a major show of the past week, the roles everyone played and themes of matches, which include the last chapter in Tanahashi vs. Okada, perhaps their last meeting until the Tokyo Dome.

We also have an update regarding Steve Austin and any short-term plans to wrestle, why Punk going heel was a good idea for him, what other top WWE face wants to go heel, a match now scheduled for Mania in 2013, notes on the rise in WWE stock price and the funny reason it's going up. We also look at two wrestlers who have good bargaining power because of it. We look at C.M. Punk's cut, what we saw and what may not have happened. We also have more on the arrest and suspension of Cameron. We've got more on the Linda McMahon campaign, notes on Monday's Raw, Chris Jericho talks leaving and different talent and where they stand.

We look at the funny story about how one of the PPV matches at Night of Champions got made. We also look at a wrestler getting more mainstream ink in his home country, more on different wrestlers recently signed by WWE and their backgrounds as well as a top prospect gets a new gimmick and the debut of the Hollywood Express. We've also got more on legends house and a second generation wrestler not getting off to a good start.

We also have notes on the sensational business of the WWE Australia tour, as well as a look at all the house shows of the past week.

Both issues are on the site now, as well as a new back issue from 1995.

The Wrestling Observer ranges weekly from 35,000 to 50,000 words covering pro wrestling and MMA internationally. Each issue has coverage and analysis of all the major news, plus every issue breaks major news stories before the Internet sties and has the most complete look at the pro wrestling and MMA business anywhere, plus history pieces available nowhere else.

We also have a note on the changes in television, most notably the decline in television homes while the population increases in the U.S., why this is happening, and the most important television markets. The Observer is now in its 29th year of being the leading insider pro wrestling publication in the world. The biggest and most influential names in the pro wrestling and MMA industry, from bookers to promoters to Hall of Fame wrestlers and fighters to the biggest names on camera and behind the scenes, along with thousands of readers in all 50 states and more than 30 countries subscribe. Many have subscribed for 20 years or longer consecutively. They get the most detailed and inside coverage of what is going on all over the world. Everywhere from Wall Street to the major offices to television networks in the U.S. and Japan turn to the Observer for what is going on in the business.

You can order the book the same way you order the newsletter.

Today's News, Notes and Links

-- Bully Ray re-signed with TNA.

-- Dave Bautista was on MMA Uncensored Live last night (watch the whole episode) and noted that he got dropped for the first time in training last week, going head-up with Stephan Bonnar. He apparently loved the experience. He said he would be interested in returning to WWE at some point but was going to wait until the PG era died down a bit. He better not be holding his breath about that one. He said he'd like to work with HHH again (by far his most successful feud at the box office during his run), and also perhaps Brock Lesnar. He said if the deal was right he'd fight Lesnar in MMA, but he'd prefer to do a pro-wrestling battle instead. Me too.

King Mo on the show noted he'd be debuting for TNA in October. He just started training in Ohio Valley Wrestling. That will be an interesting story to follow as one month of training before a live TV debut has disaster written all over it 99 times out of 100. Or maybe he's the next Kurt Angle.

-- CSAC head Kathi Burns admitted today that they only tested two fighters on the Strikeforce Rousey vs. Kaufman show last month, those being Rousey and Kaufman. Both came up clean. Nobody else was tested, and they claimed that was not due to budgetary concerns, but rather, well, just because they didn't. CSAC is an absolute mess right now.

-- Speaking of Ronda Rousey, Rolling Stone has a bit in their latest issue detailing her "feud" with Kim Kardashian and outright proclaiming her the best female fighter ever.

-- As noted on Impact last night, Spike is giving TNA a one-hour countdown special before Bound for Glory on October 14th at 7 PM Eastern. Basically, it's a one-hour pre-show including one live match that you don't have to tune into the barker channel to see. WWE has been wanting something like this before their PPVs but USA hasn't bit yet. The TNA pre-show will also include highlights of Sting going into the Hall of Fame. Christian is doing the induction as part of the deal between WWE and TNA stemming from Ric Flair showing up at the WWE Hall of Fame this past WrestleMania weekend.

-- As noted on the front page, Bound for Glory has Austin Aries vs. Armbreaker (could have sworn Bobby Roode had an armbreaker finisher), James Storm vs. Bully Ray in a Bound for Glory semifinal, Samoa Joe vs. Jeff Hardy in another semifinal (and their match on Thursday was great if you didn't see it), finals of the tournament, Miss Tessmacher vs. Tara for the Knockouts title, Daniels & Kazarian vs. AJ & Kurt Angle is Angle is healthy enough to go (he may have re-injured his hamstring for seemingly the third time this year at the house show last night), RVD vs. Magnus, and Zema Ion vs. Sonjay Dutt for the X-Title.

-- Dave has a new story up here talking about how the cancellation of UFC 141 was a – wait for it – FORTY MILLION DOLLAR HIT. Any by hit, I mean hit to the pocketbook.

-- WWE did an exclusive video of AJ saying that while she lost her mind on Monday, she's feeling much better now and will be in a great state of mind when she introduces Bret Hart to the live audience in Montreal on Monday. Uh oh.

-- Very wacky article about Kane and Eve visiting India here . Kane talks Bollywood Theatre and majoring in English literature, and Eve, described as John Cena's on-screen girlfriend (???) strikes a muscle pose next to a masked Kane in street clothes.

-- Don't forget the EVOLVE iPPV tomorrow night. We've got a one-hour interview with Gabe Sapolsky from this week talking the event, next year's giant WrestleCon in association with WrestleMania weekend, rumors of him negotiating with ROH from a few months back, and more. It's a great interview.

-- Regarding the World Series of Fighting announce team that was reported on this site and elsewhere (Kurt Angle, Bas Rutten and Michael Schiavello), sources close to WSOF say the announce team as listed and reported is not official.

-- Fox Sports has reported Tim Boetsch vs. Chris Weidman is official for the UFC's end of year show on December 29th.

-- Also confirmed, Sara McMann vs. Liz Carmouche for Strikeforce's 11/3 date in Oklahoma City.

How many buys would you predict for Anderson Silva vs. GSP?

Less than 700,000 7.3%
700-800,000 1.1%
801-900,000 2.4%
901,000-1 million 10.0%
1.0 to 1.1 million 17.9%
1.1 to 1.25 million 25.5%
1.26-1.5 million 23.0%
More than 1.5 million 12.7%

Who should Rock wrestle at WrestleMania?

C.M. Punk 49.5%
John Cena 17.7%
Brock Lesnar 17.5%
Undertaker 8.6%
HHH 3.4%
Randy Orton 1.7%
Sheamus 1.6%

What should WWE do regarding three hour Raws?

- It's a mistake, we already know it, work toward going back to two hours ASAP 56.4%
- Smile, take the extra money, ratings aren't going to drop too much 16.0%
- Give it time, evaluate it after football season 9.6%
- Give it time, evaluate it after Mania 9.6%
- In time, people will get used to three hours and it will do no harm 6.3%
- In time, it'll be a bigger success than two hours 2.1%
